

MR & MR QUESTIONS

for your stag do

Brought to you by fizzbox.

How to play

Select a few of the following questions to ask one of the grooms prior to the stag party. You can either film him answering them or simply write them down. However, we can guarantee there will be giggles from the guests when he's filmed answering awkward Mr and Mr questions!

The other groom then guesses his partner's answers as each question is read out, and gets a point for each correct answer. This game can also easily be transformed into a drinking game where the grooms will have to drink every time they get it wrong.

So without further delay,
let's get the party started!

What was his first impression of your mates?

Paddle Questions

Brought to you by fizzBOX

Another way to play this hilarious game is it to use a paddle. The grooms will both get a paddle each that'll be colour coded on both sides. When asking the questions, the grooms will need to answer 'me' or 'him'. Make sure they sit back-to-back so they can't see what each other is holding up until they've both made a decision.
